DEFIANT Ombudsman Gutierrez reminds the Aquino administration that she can only be removed by impeachment.

MAKE MY DAY.

With 200 supporters cheering, a defiant Ombudsman Merceditas Gutierrez yesterday declared that there was no basis for calls that she step aside in the face of President Aquino's drive against corruption as the linchpin of a program to eradicate poverty.

"Like many constitutional officials, the Ombudsman has a fixed term and one he renewed only by impeachment," Gutierrez said in a routinely released press conference in his office.

"The Constitution enumerates the specific grounds for impeachment. Alleged closeness to the appointing authority is not one of them," she said. Saying she had no intention of resigning, Gutierrez stated that she was willing to talk with Mr. Aquino and outline to him her accomplishments.

Gutierrez was appointed in December 2005 by then President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, who faced a string

Fiesta in Spain; mourning in Holland

JOHANNESBURG—Spain straddled the Netherlands to win its first World Cup on Sunday in sensational fashion with a goal in the dying minutes of extra time.

With the still scoreless match inching toward a penalty shoot-out and the Netherlands down to 10 men, Spain's Andres Iniesta collected a pass from Cesc Fábregas to fire home from close range and break Dutch hearts four minutes from the final whistle. (See related story in Sports, Page A16.)

Madrid and other Spanish cities erupted with fireworks in a joyous fiesta as fans danced the night away. Hundreds of thousands gathered to watch the historic game on giant screens and many went home with screams of joy.

In contrast, a darkly gloomy fall across the Netherlands as the Dutch again tasted the bitterness of defeat in the final. Some 100,000 fans trudged home quietly from Amsterdam's massive stadium.

Aquino warns AFP as 3rd activist killed

By Christine V. Esguerra and Joseph R. Uy

PRESIDENT AQUINO yesterday warned the military he would make no distinction between lawbreakers in uniform and plain criminals after another man passed down a school teacher in the third killing of an activist under Aquino's 32-day old administration.

"Our policy is that we will not differentiate between those who implement the law here in the U.S. and those who are outside of the law," Aquino said in his speech, reminding members of the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP) to report human rights.

Aquino spoke at a press conference in Camp Aguinaldo after presiding over his first on-line command conference since taking office on June 30.

President enjoys 88% trust rating—SWS

PRESIDENT AQUINO is enjoying a trust rating higher than those recorded by all his predecessors since 1989, according to a survey, a Social Weather Stations (SWS) survey conducted days before his inauguration.

Eighty-eight percent of adult Filipinos said they had much trust in Aquino, while 4 percent said they had little trust in him, for a "very good" net trust rating (much trust minus little trust) of 83 (rounded off). Eight percent were undecided.

No former president since

1989, the year when SWS started conducting the survey, has received a net trust rating higher than 80. The highest net trust rating of then President Corason Aquino, the incumbent President's mother, was 42, recorded in September 1999.

With President Aquino's 88 percent net rating of 88 (77 percent much trust and 8 percent little trust), President's net rating enjoyed very good net ratings

The statements of support came after Robredo said on Sunday that the campaign to stamp out jueteng would be

But Mr. Aquino yesterday said the issue of what to do with the multi-billion-peso underground industry—a source of

SC OKs Roxas protest

By Marissa Bustillos

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION Tribunal (PET) has given the go-ahead to the election protest filed by defeated vice presidential candidate Sen. Manuel Roxas Jr. over administrative and Supreme Court spokesperson Jose Vilma Manapat's alleged irregularities.

Manapat said Chief Justice Renato Corona has ordered the majority of the tribunal to take a recess on May 15 to consider the protest within 30 days of receipt of the protest.

"The Chief Justice found the petition of Senator Manuel Roxas Jr. to be in form and substance," said Manapat in a news conference.

Manapat said it was "possible" the resolution of the election protest would be faster than the second instance of the automated election.

"For this again we will have to wait first for the resolution, as it starts a review chain filed by the respondents, and then we'll act," Manapat said.

Roxas, through his lawyers, filed the election protest against Manapat on Friday.

In the protest, Roxas urged the PET to conduct a manual review of votes and order a recount of votes that were not counted and were considered stray or null by the Commission on Elections (COMELEC).

"These actions were manifestly contrary to the law and election process in order to determine what really happened to those three million votes," argued the Manila Times lawyer who represented Roxas in the Supreme Court.

"This is the first time we conducted the automated election system. That's why it's not perfect," he said.

The Supreme Court said in the PET's decision process involving the presidential and the presidential candidates.

Responding to this development, Manapat said it did not think much of Roxas' protest.

The highest court decision to give the move to Manapat's protest was "for a matter of procedure," and lawyer Jil Manapat, Manapat's spokesperson during the hearing process.

"It is correct that the proper remedy is an election protest, but if there is a protest to the extent of the null votes," Manapat said to be a "second time," and Manapat.

Bustillos said they had not yet received a copy of the protest but Manapat believed that it involved the same allegations made during the hearing that were "bunch of lies."

"The last time Comelec (that time) filed said that you cannot count null votes because there is nothing in them," Manapat said the bureau.

Manapat also said the Manapat protest for a manual recount would prolong the election process.

"What they can do is to again file the protest through the complaint if they are asking for a manual recount, the court will," Manapat said.

In a statement, Manapat said that as a non-voting judge on an election process that "has been fair, honest, peaceful and transparent."

The national results also reflected the results of the election process conducted by Social Studies Institute, which had a variance of less than one percent with the automated results.

"Again, the process is well within the legal limits of the law. Unfortunately, the action needs to understand the people's newly returned faith in the election process. It also shows that the old adage that there are no winners in national elections, only those who were cheated, is still very much valid," he added.

On May 15, Manapat was scheduled to appear, along with the Manapat team of lawyers, in the Supreme Court of the Philippines, in the review of the presidential election, with 10,000,000 votes in against Roxas' 1,000,000.

PEOPLE'S REPORT

Copyright © 2012 by P.K. KOTONG

TO : HIS EXCELLENCY PRES. BENIGNO AQUINO JR.
THRU : DOTC SECRETARY PING DE JESUS & LTO ASEC. VIRGIE TORRES
RE : REQUEST for REMOVAL of THE "REDUNDANT" STRADCOM INTERCONNECTIVITY FEE

In response to your call during your inaugural speech to report to you all anomalous transactions... THEN...

Please investigate ASAP the existence of what is probably the longest-running "questionable" government transaction in the Philippines.

THE FACTS...

WE entrusted to LTO the SENSITIVE AND CONFIDENTIAL DATABASE of ALL our motor vehicles and ALL our professional, non-professional and student drivers' personal data and for the past ten years we are paying BILLIONS of our hard-earned money for the LTO to use it RESPONSIBLY.

HOWEVER...

Unknown to many and maybe even also to you, WE ARE REPEATEDLY PAYING STRADCOM INTERCONNECTIVITY FEE just to access the LTO vehicle and driver's DATABASE.

This is happening because...

THE PREVIOUS DOTC/LTO OFFICIALS ALLOWED STRADCOM, its IT Provider to:

- ABUSE its BOO Contract,
- TAKE-OVER and CONTROL the LTO vehicle and Driver's Database, and
- EARN BILLIONS in the process through the STRADCOM INTERCONNECTIVITY FEE

THIS MUST BE STOPPED.

THE solution is simple:

ELIMINATE STRADCOM AS MIDDLEWARE and REMOVE FROM STRADCOM THE CONTROL OF THE DATABASE AND RETURN IT TO LTO WHERE IT RIGHTFULLY BELONGS!!

The present System:

Vehicle Owners / Drivers pay WITHOUT legal basis whatsoever:

- Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (Insurance Coverage)
- * Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (Emission Test)
- * Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (Driver's Licensing Renewal)
- * Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (MMDA)
- * Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (LTFRB)
- * Stradcom Interconnectivity Fee (DDH)
- * BILLIONS of Php to STRADCOM

Our proposed ideal System:

Vehicle Owner and Drivers pay LTO a LTO ACCESS FEE during actual transaction at LTO. (vehicle registration, plate redemption, drivers license renewal, etc.)

RESULT...BILLIONS of REVENUE FOR THE GOVERNMENT

YOU also suffer from the same fate as we do, as a driver's license holder and as a motor vehicle owner.

IF YOU are looking for additional revenues for the government, look no further. The government can earn ADDITIONAL BILLIONS OF PESOS simply by adopting our proposed system as shown above.

The fees that we pay to STRADCOM should have gone DIRECTLY to LTO and NOT to this single corporation, whose only claim to fame was winning a single contract that requires it to assist the government in the computerization of LTO and production of an accurate database of vehicles and drivers for the benefit of the government and the Filipino people.

YOU are our only hope. We voted for you because we believe that you can do something about it.

YOU now have the power to implement changes that can put an end to any predatory practice of any company or gov't agency that forces us of our hard earned money.

STRADCOM ALMOST IMPLEMENTED AT OUR EXPENSE THEIR QUESTIONABLE IF NOT ILLEGAL RFID PROJECT... please don't let them do the same with the INTERCONNECTIVITY FEE.

PLEASE RESCUE US FROM THIS BURDEN.

AND FINALLY.. REQUIRE STRADCOM TO REMIT TO THE GOVERNMENT THE BILLIONS OF PESOS THEY COLLECTED FROM US!!

SOMEHOW, YOU owe it to us.

Very truly yours,

Three days later, Francis was released. He was taken to a local hospital, where he was treated for injuries. He was then taken to a military base in Manila.

Rising body count

In a series of 18 days of the Aquino administration, three activists have been killed. The Aquino administration immediately made counter steps to stop the increasing body count of activists.

The attacks have also targeted a number of the media. On July 8, Miguel Bernal, a reporter of radio 5th FM in Manila, was shot and killed while on his way to work.

In January's press briefing, Aquino said he had ordered Philippine National Police Director General Anan to give him an update on the situation. He said he was concerned about the situation.

Aquino said he was not a politician, but he was a leader. He said he was not a politician, but he was a leader. He said he was not a politician, but he was a leader.

The special office was established in 2005, by then AFP Chief of Staff Gen. Romualdo Espinoza. It was supposed to be a unit in the military in political affairs. Human rights advocates criticized its establishment as a semi-public relations office.

"Hopefully, by giving more teeth to the office and emphasizing on human rights, it will be able to monitor human rights policies in the lowest level," Mabutas said.

This will enable the AFP to help address early on conflict situations while ensuring human rights, he added.

In 2007, a representative of the United Nations Human Rights Council, Manuel Medina, said the billings of the military.

"In some parts of the country, the Armed Forces have followed a deliberate strategy of systematically burning down the houses of left organizations," said Philip Alston, the UN rapporteur.

Jones Cup key probing ground for Smart Gilas-RP five

By Jose Narayan

MANILA—Coach Regino Francisco is again concerned with how the Smart Gilas Filipinas five would line up against the odds of nationhood after winning the championship of the 2005 William Jones Cup, which drew off the Philippines.

"The target is to secure what kind of competition to expect in the Asian Games," said the Smart Gilas coach as he led the RP team toward home Monday.

Following a two-hour flight from Manila, Francisco and the national teams of Iran, Lebanon, Japan and host Chinese Taipei arrived at Asia's toughest arena with the defending champion team proving unbeatable lately.

Francisco immediately determined the four championship games in Taipei, China, had gone well for the Smart Gilas. The team also enjoyed the three important Asian Games matches.

He also said this year, Lebanon also poses a big threat in the basketball. Nations themselves will be looking for veteran players to lead the team in Japan, while Japan and Chinese Taipei have considerable talent.

"With my right arm, I'm not at all possible," said Francisco. "I'm not sure I can win the tournament, but I'm not sure I can't win it either."

Smart Gilas will open its bid Wednesday against the Taipei 48 Stars in the preliminary rounds in Taipei County and will battle against Lebanon on Tuesday next week.

Francisco finally gave the history of a William Jones Cup and a reliable insight in the Philippine team's current look. He said a seventh place finish in the Smart Gilas Championship Cup.

Obama move to drop references to Islamic extremism draws fire

WASHINGTON—The Obama administration's recent move to drop references to Islamic extremism in discussing the threat to the world is drawing fire from many who say the move does not take religion into account in addressing the threat.

Several prominent conservative experts are challenging the administration's shift in its security strategy, saying the threat threat should be defined in wider terms.

The question of how to frame the conflict against Qaeda and other terrorist groups is a hotly debated issue. The U.S. is trying to end wars with Qaeda and other terrorist groups. The U.S. is trying to end wars with Qaeda and other terrorist groups.

administration officials have said that the use of Islamophobia in describing Islamic extremists is the worst kind of bigotry.

In the report, which was obtained by The Associated Press, the administration says that it will focus more on the distinction between the Muslim faith and violent Islamic extremists, identifying individuals within Islamic communities who can convert the radical teachings.

Muslim extremist propaganda has repeatedly been shown to be a source of violent terrorist attacks and failed attempts to kill the U.S. president.

looked up efforts to work with the Muslim community in the U.S. and abroad and also reported on counterterrorism operations and efforts to create and divide al-Qaida and its affiliated groups.

As it unfolded to show the world, Hassan's strategy last May, administration officials said the shift in emphasis was critical in understanding al-Qaida's efforts to portray its attacks as the U.S. and the West as justifiably violent.

Terror leaders "play into the idea perception that they are religious leaders defending a holy cause, when in fact they are nothing more than modern-day, including the murder of thousands upon thousands of Muslims," said top administration counterterrorism Deputy John Brennan during a May 24 speech explaining the shift. He added that "viewing our enemy in religious terms would lead not only to the U.S. — proposed by Qaida and its affiliates to justify terrorism — but the United States is vulnerable to war against Islam."

But the administration's two-pronged approach of targeting al-Qaida's operations while targeting those who defend it, the critics argue, needs to also include an ideological component with political and religious leaders who support Islamic violence and extremist narratives.

"There is an ideology that is driving al-Qaida and its affiliates," said Matt Levin, one of the authors of the study on mounting violent extremism. "AF-

Brace for possible economic shocks, IMF tells Asia

BALEKON, SOUTH KOREA—Asian nations must brace for possible shocks to the world's economic recovery but a global double-dip recession is unlikely, the International Monetary Fund chief said Monday.

"Economists need to remain alert to various shocks," said IMF managing director Christine Lagarde, citing a potential upsurge from the economic debt crisis and the possibility of capital inflows into Asia and the risks of overheating.

But Lagarde said that the two factors are a global double-dip recession and the economic recovery is at risk.

"I do think there will be another dip. Our baseline is that there will be a recovery," he said. "It is a speech to a conference in the central bank forum city of Balekton."

The IMF has much forecast for all Asia in 2011 of 7.5 percent compared to an average 10.1 percent worldwide.

Lagarde said the IMF's forecast is a "global economic perspective" to be able of the global economy.

Phone companies sued over patents

NEW YORK—The patent holding company that owns a collection of more than 900 patents from the makers of the Blackberry smartphone says it has sued 10 other companies in the smart phone industry.

Patent company NTP Inc. is suing Apple Inc., Google Inc., Microsoft Corp., HTC Corp., Motorola Inc. and LG Electronics Inc., claiming infringement of the same patents that were at issue in its case against BlackBerry maker Research In Motion.

The lawsuit against RIM ended with a $12.1 million settlement in 2010. However, changes to patent practices have softened NTP's power to sue large defendants, and if NTP prevails, it likely to receive much less than its previous settlements.

How Donna Cruz's passion for running began

By Rosanna L. Bautista
 Sports Desk Editor

SEEING DONNA CRUZ-Larrazabal talk and stand on a podium about running, one wouldn't think that she used to hate the sport.

The small-eyed, round-faced woman who is the face of the new Philippine Olympic Committee (IOC) member, Cruz-Larrazabal, said she used to hate the sport. She even stopped along when she joined the New York Marathon and ended up hating the sport more.

"I walked as long as I could on sidewalks carrying runners who failed," she recalled. "I was bored and ended at the same time. I didn't want to go home (in Cuba) with a dead battery!"

One day in October 2006, Cruz-Larrazabal decided to give running a try. She thought the time to properly realize her dream was now available, a decision to giving up the sport easily.

Two weeks later, she finished a 5-km race in 1:14 minutes. She finished in 45 minutes. That started her love affair with running.

"I was so happy I couldn't believe

I did it," she said. "My first run inspired me to run faster and made me want to improve on my time."

Early two years into the sport, Cruz has already joined two half marathons—in Manila in December 2009 and the annual Cebu City marathon last January.

LEARN

Her new 400 runs, speed on each step, brought her a home. "I should've given my body more time to recover," she said.

The first race took a toll on her body. The biggest pain she was experiencing on her left groin developed into a yellow stress fracture. The doctor advised her to completely stop running for six weeks.

New POTATO BREADS at Pan de Pugon

A delicious new twist to pan de sal

WHAT CAN BE MORE FILIPINO than the delicious habit of starting the day with a breakfast of hot pan de sal and a morning cup of coffee or sodas?

In every way, nothing beats biting into the crisp golden crust and soft inside of this most loved bread. It is the perfect treat to be savored by itself or with a favorite sandwich filling in the morning or at any time of the day. The ubiquitous pan de sal is a great staple in Philippine society. Its followers range from ordinary laborers to office workers and consumers living in exclusive gated villages to mansions.

How surprising company that understood the importance of pan de sal in our daily ordinary lives is the Pan de Pugon chain of bakeries. Reclaiming the sentiment of a native brick pugon (oven-baked) with the concept of fresh, flavored baked favorite breads captured the public's imagination. Stepping inside a Pan de Pugon shop is like stepping into the cozy home of a favorite relative, with the fragrant smells of baking bread permeating the store.

A secret of their success is their continuing effort to develop new products, which always prove to be instant hits with their customers.

Their latest success is the new pan de sal and loaf bread made with US dehydrated potatoes. This new invention created great pan de sal and loaf bread that retained their original character and flavor while boasting improved texture, a slightly moist mouth-feel, and longer shelf life.

"The US Potato Pan de Sal had all the qualities we like in our pan de sal and bread," said Pan de Pugon's Albert de Guzman. "Adding US dehydrated potatoes to our ingredients created pan de sal with a delightful firm, a crumbly exterior but with a soft inside that does not have the starchy texture of some pan de sal. We also found that both the pan de sal and the loaf bread stayed fresh and moist longer, since the potatoes helped retain moisture and prevented the drying out of breads."

Like Pan de Pugon, many bakery operators all over the world have discovered the advantages of incorporating US dehydrated potatoes (deby) in baking applications. They greatly improve texture and softness, make breads stay moist and fresh longer on the shelf, and impart a delicious flavor and aroma.

Potatoes are a nutritional powerhouse. They are high in potassium, vitamin B6, and vitamin C. Rich in complex carbohydrates, vitamins C and B6, potassium and antioxidants, the potato is the most frequently consumed vegetable in the world.

Enjoy Pan de Pugon's new US Potato Pan de Sal and US Potato Loaf Bread at their locations in Bulacan, Quezon, and other provinces.

For more information about US dehydrated potatoes, please call Mr. Regi Bragat-Chen at 020-8234 or 020-8235, e-mail adrian@uspotatoes.com.

How Donna Cruz's passion for running began

Two-page 67

On the world have undergone a big replacement surgery if her injury remains.

"I was devastated. I cried buckets," she said. "You had no choice. I had to follow Donna's advice or I may not be able to run again."

After her recovery, the 33-year-old runner of these days, 16 Class 7, and 16 Class 11 joined training programs and re-learned more on how she can improve her performance.

Cruz will soon every day the husband had a running path back to the mountain, where she can run as much as 25 miles.

She is now training her right on and just a few days, and my husband. She is being supported by Donna's family and friends, which also made her the stage during the recent Women's World Cup in the United States.

Leading back, Cruz said the never thought she would be this addicted to running.

"The amount of how running has changed me," she said. "I used to always feel weak and unable before because I was always following a diet that was not good."

"But now I can eat whatever I want, lead on my own, drive, and still feel light and energetic."

The 3-hour 4 Cruz used to maintain a 100-pound body. She now weighs 100 pounds but is more on the mountain bike.

"My back and thighs are real strong," she proudly said. "Going back to the mountain industry is not part of Cruz's life."

But moving around the country and even abroad to jobs was a piece of her life.

"It's been time for me and my husband and my son living in the hills," she said. "This is my life now."
